

God, who is manifest in all forms, has come to see his own spectacle

At times he is Hanbali or Sha'fi, at times he is Maliki

And at time he is reading the Quran

Sometimes he says I am truth, at times he shifts his principles and appearance

Sometimes he is a baby, sometimes old and wise, and sometimes young

Sometimes he is a Mir, sometimes he is a Wazir, and sometimes he is Hanuman

Sachal lays in patience, he is astonished, and overcome by wonderment
